Also, I devote my contribution to my Mummum my only Aunt Late Mrs. Tripti Banerjee for her constant support and guidance to assist me to flourish in my legal career.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am thankful to God who looks after me, my parents, my students, my friends and my well-wishers for their constant support and love.

Thanks to all the authors for their remarkable contributions, efforts and trusting me uncritically.

Heartiest thanks to Soham Mukherjee, Ritam and Aditi Banerjee the source of my joy and creativity.

Thanks to KD Publication, Pune for making my dream real.

Last but not the least, am grateful to all my beloved family members especially, my husband Mr. Ananda Mukherjee and my only brother Mr. Deb Rupam Banerjee for their unconditional love, endless motivation and providing me all through relentless support.

Foreword

Prof. (Dr.) Tabrez Ahmad

Vice-Chancellor, GD Goenka University, and Dean, School of Law.

The criminal justice system is comprised of numerous interrelated pillars, like academia, law enforcement, forensic services, the judiciary, and corrections. These pillars are required to ensure the rule of law and justice for all. Legal justice is the consequence of shaping the rights of individuals with the government's equivalent duty to safeguard and defend those rights – referred to as due process. These constitutional prerogatives cannot be given and secured without the enduring assurances of those professionals working in the criminal justice system. Subsequently, such professionals must imbibe themselves to the virtuous principles of the criminal justice system and showcase the persistent veracity in their personality. This can only be accomplished with the help of a well-intentioned and fully defined code of professional ethics that provides capability, consistency, culpability, and overall credibility – when properly controlled.

“It is the supreme art of the Teacher to awaken joy in creative, expression and knowledge”.

-Albert Einstein

I am delighted to introduce my young and promising colleague Dr. Sulakshana Banerjee Mukherjee and take the privilege of writing the FOREWORD of her first editorial endeavor. I know her since 2007 when she as a fresh pass out of her LL.M degree started her professional academic career under my guidance and since then I have seen her spreading her wings. This Book is highly recommended, as the concept of Criminology, Penology and Victimology are very vibrant aspects of today's legal education. It will be a great help to readers and enrich their knowledge in the new concept of criminal justice system.

I wish Dr. Sulakshana all the very best for her future endeavors and expect many more contributions from her in near future.
